

BCH Takes Top Honor in Local Poll

Boulder Community Hospital has been named the top Medical Facility in Boulder County in a reader's poll conducted by the Boulder Weekly newspaper.

Foothills Hospital was the runner-up in this poll, while Boulder Medical Center earned Honorable Mention status.

This honor was announced in a special Best of Boulder County 2010 section published last week by the Boulder Weekly.

In its description of BCH, the Weekly stressed the high level of personal attention provided by BCH doctors, staff and volunteers, noting that local residents go to BCH "not just to get the latest in cardiac care or to take advantage of the most progressive maternity unit in the area, but to talk to doctors and nurses who know our names, care about our well-being and work hard to keep us truly healthy, not just functional."

Congratulations to all BCH physicians, staff and volunteers for being publicly recognized for your concerted efforts to provide Boulder County residents with the high quality care they deserve.
